

ReadMe

1. The code can only be run on Kaggle not on the local machine because of the unavailability of resources to process this much of data. Therefore upload this file on Kaggle and run it as a kernel.
2. The file is in Ipython notebook format.
3. This file contains different cells which can be run by pressing 'Shift+Enter'.
4. The output of all the cells will be displayed under each cell only.